I am a self-motivated freelance software developer with a passion for technology and continuous learning. Although I am currently pursuing my university degree through open education, I have been actively working in the field of software development and freelancing. I have also gained nearly three years of professional experience outside the software industry, which has helped me develop a strong work ethic, adaptability, and communication skills.

I have taught myself both programming and English. I regularly communicate with people from different cultures as a hobby, which has improved my language proficiency and intercultural communication. My character is calm, collaborative, and reliable. I am eager to grow in the software field and am looking forward to building a long-term career at the company where this CV is submitted.
